Twenty-third Sunday in Ordinary Time

10th September 2023

23rd Sunday in Ordinary Time

"If your brother does something wrong, go and have it out with him alone, between your two selves."

This Sunday, the Lord is instructing his disciples as a community called to proclaim and witness to God's reign on earth, on how they should behave towards one another. He encourages them to challenge and help one another to live fully Christian lives, lives of integrity and loving service in accordance with God's reign of justice and love.

So, when we see a member of the community is not living in accordance with their Christian calling, instead of judging them, we are told that we should go directly to the person in question and try to put them on the right path. We should correct that person with love.

We would like to thank the seminarian Anthony Dunn for all the help he has given us and welcome the seminarian Adrian Hafner, from the Salvatorian International Formation House, who will stay with us for a few days.

Pope's Intention for September
